Another Fire.

The catching fire of the roof of Mrs. Dodd's residence on Green street caused an alarm of fire last Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock. The force pump at Mr. J. D. McNeill's mill quickly extinguished the flames, with little or no damage, and the Chicora steam fire engine was on the ground with commendable promptness.

A Veteran Nimrod.

Mr. Archie Ray, of Quwhiffle township, who has passed his 82nd year, took his rifle the other morning, and, after a walk of several miles, killed a deer weighing 155 lbs., returning home in time for breakfast. He is a man of remarkable physical vitality, as were his forbears—great huntsmen, woodsmen and athletes.

Convicts.

One hundred and twenty convicts arrived here on Wednesday night last by the night freight and accommodation train on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway. They were accompanied by a guard of twenty men, and on Thursday morning were carried to the steamer Hurt, to be conveyed to Wilmington for work on the eastern end of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley road.

A Narrow Escape.

Last Friday evening, as Mrs. Judge MacRae and her daughter, Miss Lizzie, were riding in the eastern part of the city, their horse took fright at the whistle of the Bucket Factory, and dashed off, throwing them both from the vehicle, and breaking it in pieces. Fortunately, and very remarkably, the ladies, beyond a slight bruise or two, escaped uninjured.

Plenty to Eat.

The Fayetteville market is now excellently supplied with fruits, vegetables, fresh meats, etc., with fresh fish and oysters in fair quantities. Grocers, butchers and caterers seem determined to keep the market up to the notch, and large contracts have been made for food supplies during the Centennial Celebration in November, and even now herds of cattle are being driven in, to be stalled and fattened for that occasion.

Our Heartfelt Sympathies.

We regret much to learn from the Workman that the residence of Mr. J. W. Payne, in North Greensboro, caught fire on Monday evening last, and before the flames could be arrested the front part of the building, where the parlor was situated, was burned out, destroying the beautiful furniture, together with pictures and other adornments of the room which were rendered priceless to the family from association.

A Dastardly Act.

We learn that some miscreant cut the hose belonging to the steam fire department a few days ago—taking advantage, we suppose, of one of the recent occasions on which it was brought out at the alarm of fire; at any rate, the hose was found cut, though without any clue, so far as we know, to the perpetrator of the outrage. Whatever may have been his motive—reckless mischief, malice or inherent deviltry—the man guilty of the act is no better than the wretch who applies the torch to his neighbor's house in the helpless darkness and stillness of night. The cutting of the hose might have caused great loss of property or even life; and we would advise the gentleman who has selected this form of amusement to "rest on his laurels" with this one display of his skill at knife-slashing—for he will have a "gaudy" time of it if he ever falls into the hands of the fire company.

We'll Get There.

This is not a Try-Weekly paper, though we try to get out Tuesday and Friday, and don't—exactly. [Patented.] The wheels are not yet running smoothly on the new semi-weekly track, but we'll be all right in a few days.

The Graded School.

The associate editor recently paid two visits to the Graded School, and has copious notes thereof stowed away, but a recent attack of rheumatism has put him behind a day or two, and his article must be postponed until next week.

Installed with Hearty Greetings.

Rev. W. B. Oliver, the new pastor of the Baptist Church, has taken a house on East Person street with his wife and child, and on Wednesday evening his congregation stormed this pleasant abode with a "pounding" of the good things of this life until kitchen, pantry and larder abounded in all the concomitants of a comfortable home.

Mr. Oliver is a stranger to most people of this community; but, from the ability which he has already evinced in the pulpit, and from the warm tributes to his high character from those who best know him, we think that we are justified in congratulating our Baptist friends on having secured a minister who will be a power for great good in his new field of labor.

Excellent Workmanship.

We have had the pleasure of examining some work just turned out from the construction shops of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Company that would do credit to the most extensive manufactories at the North. The company is relying more and more every year upon the skill of its own employes, and more than sixty cars have been built or are now building—the work of our own artisans, with material for the wood-work furnished entirely by this section.

In addition to this, there have been put on the line in the past few days three passenger and two baggage and mail cars, the latter of which are 57 feet in length, including both compartments, and are excellently arranged and fitted up. The passenger cars are of the same length, and are models of comfort, elegance and beauty—supplied with lavatories, mirrors and other toilet arrangements, while the seats, which are enclosed in mahogany frames, are upholstered in handsome garnet plush, with brass racks for luggage suspended overhead. It will certainly be first-class travel in perfection on these coaches.

Mi-nervine.

Mr. D. McN. Ray, of the western part of the county, went to a "fandango" in his neighborhood the other night; and, for the better adonizing of his person on that occasion, he borrowed Mr. Jno. McDuffie's silk hat and gold-headed cane, at the same time placating him for so important a loan by the present of an owl measuring nearly four and a half feet from tip to tip, which he that day found winking and blinking at the sunlight on the public road.

This bird is also a wise inhabitant of Quwhiffle township, doubtless years and years older than even Joe McKethan—old enough, perhaps, to have taken part in the "Temptation of St. Anthony," to have sat at the elbow of Galeotti as he worked on the superstitious soul of Louis XI, or to have hooted in the ear of Poe apostrophizing the Coliseum—

Type of the antique Rome!
Rich reliquary left by Time to the corrosive hours of fate and me.

But Minerva's favorite of Quwhiffle has succumbed to the art of the taxidermist, and will no more—

Poor, moping owl, complain
Of such as, wandering near her secret bower,
Molest her ancient, solitary reign.

Another Earthquake.

The first to make his appearance in public, at 9 o'clock a few evenings since, was a squatty barber on Market Square of rotund build, who found the middle of the street in a series of kangaroo leaps of extraordinary size and volume; then he started frantically toward the market-place to ring the alarm-bell—then halted dubiously, and looked back into his shop, where the electric light was spouting blue flames, and emitting pyrotechnic sparks and flashes, and spluttering and popping like a skirmish line.

An agent was in the Overbaugh House making out an accident policy for a prominent lawyer of the city, who was about to take a special train on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, bound for the western end of the line with a large quantity of dynamite on board. The agent was suddenly seized with an intense desire for out-door exercise; and, hurriedly remarking that he would be much obliged for an accident policy for his own use for awhile, cleared the front entrance like an acrobat—"and the subsequent proceedings interested him no more."

In all the drug-stores and other establishments on the principal streets, where trade was still going on, the occupants manifested a simultaneous inclination to view the interior of the building from a convenient point on the outside—twenty-five or thirty feet from the curb-stone. Then the electric lights went out for a little while; but they were soon brought to order down at the factory, and in a short time were burning as steadily as ever.

Five Hundred Dollars for Prizes.

Preparations for the approaching Centennial continue with unabated interest, and the committees in charge continue to add new and attractive features at every meeting.

At the regular weekly meeting yesterday the sum of five hundred dollars was appropriated for prizes to be awarded the visiting military and bands, as follows: Military, 1st prize, $250,00; 2nd, $100,00; 3rd, 50,00.

Bands, 1st prize, 75,00; 2nd, 50,00; 3rd, 25,00.

The fire-works display on the night of the 21st will be the grandest pyroetchnic display ever seen south of Baltimore, and will be furnished by the Detwiller & Street Fire Works Co., of New York, one of the largest fire-works manufactories in the United States; the same company that furnished the fire-works for the Piedmont Exposition in Atlanta last year, and by reason of the universal satisfaction given received the contract for furnishing the display this year.

Fayetteville Real Estate Agency.

At the annual meeting of the Fayetteville Real Estate Agency, held here this week, the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:

Chas. Haigh, President.
R. M. Nimocks, Vice Prest.
J. W. McNeill, Treasurer.
C. L. Taylor, Secretary.

Directors: A. A. McKethan, Jr., J. P. Thomson, W S Cook, S C Rankin and E L Pemberton.

This shows the institution to be well officered, while the annual statement, to be found elsewhere in this issue, shows up a ten per cent. dividend for the stockholders, which fact alone shows that the past year has been a most prosperous year for the Agency. It's aims and objects are such as to enlist the hearty support and good will of our people, and the success which has attended its brief career is a strong recommendation for its future success.

Books for subscription to the capital stock will be open for the next thirty days beginning with last Tuesday, and continuing thirty days, during which time all parties desiring to increase the amount of their stock, or subscribe to the capital stock, will come forward.

Death of Capt. Daingerfield.

The announcement of the death of Capt. J. E. P. Daingerfield yesterday evening gave a great shock to the community—intensified by the peculiar and touching circumstances attending it.

Capt. Daingerfield and Mr. J. C. Haigh took their guns, and went down the Wilmington road to shoot squirrels—a jaunt which they often took together—and, as was his custom, the former left Mr. Haigh near David Bryan's house, to hunt a favorite part of the adjacent woods. On his return some time later, Mr. Haigh fired his gun at a flock of doves as a signal to his companion to come out into the road, but, receiving no response, he went on into the woods, whistling and calling at intervals as he advanced. Once a fox darted from the coppice before him, and a little farther in he came upon Capt. Daingerfield easily reclining on the ground, with his head thrown back against a bank, while his hat had fallen over on his chest, and his gun lay across his lap, clasped at the stock in his right hand. A minute's examination convinced Mr. Haigh that he was dead, the lips being slightly parted as of one wearied and panting. Mr. Haigh had often expressed his fears of the evil effects of such long walks upon a man of Capt. Daingerfield's age and delicate physique, and the violent exercise had doubtless overpowered him. He died alone—led away from earth only by the hand of God—but we can well believe that the summons was fraught with peace—a soft whisper of blessed promise mingling with nature's hymnals, and falling through the leafy covert that canopied his drooping head like the dew of heaven.

The deceased was a Virginian, of a well-known and prominent family of that State, and was born on the 25th of October, 1817. He came to Fayetteville in July, 1861, just after the battle of Manassas, under orders of President Davis to take charge of the military stores of the arsenal at this point, at the same time occupying the position of paymaster, and after the war engaged for some years in mercantile business in this place.

Capt. Daingerfield was a man of warm heart, spotless integrity and steadfast devotion to the South, and leaves a wife and four children (the latter all married), to whom our sincere sympathies are tendered. The funeral services take place to-morrow morning at 10:30 o'clock from St. John's Episcopal Church.

Weekly Cotton Report.

The following is the weekly report of the Fayetteville Cotton Market, taken from the office of the Fayetteville Cotton Exchange, for the week ending Oct. 11th:

	BALES.
Receipts for the week	486
" last year	774
" date	1396
Same time last year	2155
Stock on platform	225
Shipments for the week	391

REMARKS.

The decrease in number of bales compared with 1888 is either due to the farmers holding back their cotton in compliance with the resolution of the National Farmers' Alliance or the short crop, and possibly both. The prices paid on the Fayetteville market are the same as paid in Wilmington, and more than is paid in any other interior town in the State.

Personal Pencilings.

Col. W. S. Cook left on the steamer Hurt yesterday for Wilmington.

Capt. W. E. Kyle, General Freight and Passenger Agent of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, is in New York city this week.

Mr. O. O. Vollers, of Laurinburg, was in the city to-day. Oscar is now "on the road," and is one of the cleverest of the "knights of the grip."

Mr. Malcolm Matthews, of the Hotel LaFayette, and Mr. Geo. A. Burns, of omnibus and livery stable celebrity, made a river trip to Wilmington last Wednesday.

Her many friends are glad to see Mrs. J. C. Carson, of Bennettsville, S. C., in the city, paying a visit to her sisters, Mrs. Chas. Glover and Mrs Jennings.

Dr. H. A. McSwain, of Wade, and Mr. R. T. Devane, of Red Springs, paid their respects to this office to-day.

Messrs. W. D. Gaster and W. J. McNaughton returned Wednesday evening from Jonesboro, where they had been assisting in the organization of Jonesboro Lodge I. O. O. F., No. 127.

Mr. Jas. F. Johnson, who was mentioned in the OBSERVER as having accepted a position with W. Wittkowsky, of Charlotte, has reconsidered his determination, and is now one of the traveling salesmen of the mammoth house of Frank Thornton, of this city.

Mrs. M. D. Clarke, of Manchester, brightened our sanctum by a visit of a few minutes on Thursday. She is always welcome, not only to the OBSERVER but to its readers, whom she frequently greets in our correspondence columns.

Mrs. Chas. Humphreys and children arrived in the city last Friday evening, to spend the fall and winter, we hope. Like her husband, Mrs. Humphreys has won many warm friends in the community, and may always be sure of a welcome in our midst.

Mr. H. G. Myrover, of the United States Engineer Department, with Capt. Bixby at Wilmington, spent two or three days here this week with friends and relatives.

Mr. Thos. H. Pegram, of Baltimore, has been spending a few days with the family of Mr. Z. W. Whitehead on Haymount.

Prof. Antonio Bellezza arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Winston; and, as will be seen by notice in another column, he will meet the ladies and gentlemen of the community next Monday afternoon and evening for the purpose of forming dancing classes. Prof. Bellezza is well known here, both as a skilled preceptor in leading the pupil through the mazes of the art terpsichorean and as a courteous gentleman in the performance of that duty.

THE OBSERVER.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., OCTOBER 11, 1889.

NEWS AND COMMENT.

THERE are 801 pupils attending the white public schools of Wilmington.

NEW YORK Democracy bids fair to present an unbroken front once more.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND politely declines the chairmanship of the World's Fair in 1892.

THE surplus earnings of the Pullman Palace Car Company for the past year are put down at $2,200,000.

INDICATIONS at present point to the selection of Attorney-General MILLER for the Supreme Court vacancy.

IF all reports are true Ex-Father BOYLE'S record in the past will be of little service to him in his present troubles.

SAM JONES says if there is one class of people he wants to see go to Heaven, it is "poor white people and niggers."

THE ATLANTA Exposition was formally opened on the 8th, with speeches by HENRY W. GRADY et als., military and civic displays, &c., &c.

JAMES H. HARRIS, one of the leading Republicans, is reported as saying that he thought the negro exodus movement would soon die out.

FIFTY thousand visitors are in Washington City this week, attending the Knight Templars' ceremonies; 15,000 Knights were in line.

HOWARD SEELY, the Brooklyn author, has just recovered from an attack of intermittent fever. He is said to be at work on another novel.

THE Georgia Legislature soon will have been in session four months. The wonder is that the masses have not blown up the capitol with dynamite.

"WHITE folks are mighty onsartin," as we have in more than one campaign found to our cost; but it begins to look now as if an overwhelming defeat was just ahead of MAHONE and his henchmen.

"AN election yesterday in Chattanooga, under the Australian system, resulted in the election of a Republican for Mayor." We'll take none of the Australian in ours, then, please.

THE Wilmington Star says the "Heathen Chinee is hard to get away with. Notwithstanding the exclusion act, the Chinese population of New York city has increased 15 per cent. in the past 12 months."

EX-GOVERNOR AMES, of Massachusetts, largely interested in iron manufacturing, declares emphatically that without free coal and free iron the New England iron manufacturers must surrender and retire from the field.

THE records show that there are 75 tobacco factories in this revenue district. Rockingham county leads with 20, Guilford follows with 10, while Durham and Granville have 8 each. Of cigar factories there are 17, of which Durham has 5, Guilford 3, Granville 1.

IF all the reports are true General HARRISON'S position in regard to the vacant Commissionership of Pensions could scarcely be more humiliating than it is. He does not dare to make an appointment that is not agreeable to his arch enemy, General ALGER, and the Grand Army of the Republic.

THE Duke of Edinburgh takes peculiar pleasure in repeating to his mother, Queen Victoria, the disagreeable comments that the Emperor of Russia has made upon the recent marriage of Princess Beatrice to Lord Fife; and it seems that these sentiments of disapproval are fully shared by the Empress Frederica.

HERE is a "pointer" taken from a recent issue of the Raleigh News and Observer: When the Republicans last fall were "saving" the country they warned the people that if the sacred tariff was interfered with the whole thing would go to the bow-wows. They got in. See the result. In the last nine months the number of failures foot up 8,384—being 1,014 more than for the same period under Cleveland, while the liabilities run up $17,000,000 more.

Should HARRISON'S administration continue for the remainder of his term with the same disastrous results which have attended the first six months of his four years, the country will be almost bankrupted.

"WE may have some conception how the pension steal grows when we learn that during the months of July, August and September, 1888, the number of original pension certificates issued was 8,705, as compared with 13,660 for the corresponding months of this year." So much for a Republican administration, and so much for a Democratic administration. The one which favors the smaller number is for low taxes, while the one which favors the larger number is for high taxes. Those who pay the taxes are responsible.

THE location of the World's Fair seems to hang fire as yet. New York City insists on a recognition of its claims as the great metropolis of the American continent, but it is not backing those claims with any very great amount of money. The New York Sun gave in a conditional $10,000 subscription, followed by the frothy, braggadocio PULLITZER, of the World, with a conditional $100,000 subscription, and these two advertising schemes are almost all New York has to show for itself.

In the meantime, the people of Chicago are working like beavers; and, as Congress may have something to say about the location of the World's Fair, the great "Lake City" may yet bear off the honors.

SLANDER.

BY FRANCES P. OSGOOD.

A whisper broke the air—
A soft, light tone and low,
Yet barbed with shame and woe;
Now might it only perish there!
Nor farther go.

Ah me! a quick, an eager ear
Caught up a little meaning sound!
Another voice has breathed it clear,
And so it wanders round,
From ear to lip—from lip to ear—
Until it reached a gentle heart,
And that—it broke.

It was the only heart it found,
The only heart 'twas meant to find,
When first its accents broke;
It reached that tender heart at last,
And that—it broke.

Low as it seemed to other ears,
It came a thunder crash to hers—
That fragile girl so fair and gay—
That guileless girl so pure and true!

'Tis said a lovely humming-bird
That in a fragrant lily lay,
And dreamed the summer morn away,
Was killed but by a gun's report,
Some idle boy had fired in sport!
The very sound—a death blow came!

And thus her happy heart that beat
With love and hope so fast and sweet,
(Shrined in its lily too;
For who the maid that knew,
But owned the delicate flower-like grace
Of her young form and face!)

When first that word
Her light heart heard,
It fluttered like the frightened bird,
Then shut its wings and sighed,
And with a silent shudder—died.

Commercial Fertilizers—so Called—Home Dirt vs. Yankee Dirt.

Brother Farmers:

In my efforts to edueate some of you to live for your home comforts and best interests, I can only do so by giving you facts as I have them, leaving you to use your own minds to determine the wrong or the right, as to what I may say.

A few miles above the city of Wilmington, on the Cape Fear River, is a place called Mount Misery—there poverty slumbers and sleeps—the land being about as poor as it well can be. A few years prior to the late blood-letting, a raft of timber floated down, on which was a man by the name of Glipon—a white man—he got on "river drunk" and fell into a long sleep. When near Mount Misery the hands not knowing where to locate the place, shouted out, "where is Mount Misery?" Their shouts awoke Glipon from his long drunken sleep. He stretched, yawned and rubbed his swollen eyes and answered feebly—"all over me." The poor deluded man was right for once. Mount Misery was at that moment located all over him, all through him; there was not a square inch of him but what was part and parcel of Mount Misery. Now you ask, what has this got to do with commercial fertilizers? Well let us see. You all will readily agree that it was the oil of rye or the distilled juice of the apple or peach, that converted poor Glipon into a Mount Misery—so this is settled for all time. I assert that the injudicious use of the so-called commercial fertilizers has made many mount miseries all over our Sunny South, where we might have had happy and prosperous homes, and would have had, I cannot doubt, but for this dirty fraud curse. But for this curse and two others, (neither of which I will mention in this article) we would at this day and time have one of the most prosperous and happy countries on earth.

I will now ask you a few questions for your honest consideration. Did we deal in Yankee stinking dirt before the war? Did we during the war? Did the South rely on the North and West for corn, meal, meat and hay? Did we rely on the North for flour? Did we rely on the North for seed-wheat, seed-oats and seed-rye? Did we get any nice, fat, tender beef from Kansas? If I was called on to give an answer to these questions I would say emphatically: We did not rely on or look to the North or Northwest for any of these things.

North Carolina is a little world of itself, and if it were possible to make an impassable gulf all around it, shutting out all the balance of the world from us, we could live and live well. Yes Brother Esaus, we would have nothing to fear for the future, but our ignorance, laziness, (mental and physical) imprudence and dishonesty, save and except our fat, sleek, well-dressed and high-toned Brother Jacobs. They are keen, shrewd, cunning and crafty. What a Jacob will not do to change the solid color of a cow, from a red or a black to be speckled and spotted that he may perpetrate a legal theft, will not be done by an Esau. See Genesis. 30th chapter, 31st to 39th verses inclusive. More next week.

Durability of Different Woods.

The American Builder relates this result of experiments that have been made by driving sticks made of different woods, each 2 feet long and 1½ inches square, into the ground, only ½ inch projecting outward. It was found that in five years all those made of oak, elm, ash, fir, soft mahogany, and nearly every variety of pine were totally rotten. Larch, hard pine, and teak wood were decayed on the outside only, while acacia, with the exception of being also slightly attacked on the exterior, was otherwise sound. Hard mahogany and cedar of Lebanon were in tolerably good condition. But only Virginia cedar was found as good as when put in the ground. This is of some importance to builders, showing what woods should be avoided, and others used by preference in underground work.

[The above is conclusive evidence that the American Builder knows but little of what it is talking about, as we have an instance right here in Fayetteville where pine logs were put down for supplying the town with water from Haymount, and used as pipes, that have been in use about half a century or more, and are perfectly sound to-day, and supplying the town with possibly as good water as there is in the world.—EDS. OBSERVER.]

in a mother's diadem are her fair, healthy children—the pride and ornaments of her home. But a mother cannot bear and nourish such children while she is the victim of suffering and disease. By a course of self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, every woman can thoroughly eradicate those excruciating periodical pains and functional weaknesses incident to her sex, and at the same time build up and invigorate her whole system by its health-imparting influence. A trial bottle will convince. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers to give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

The World Moves!

Get Up and Ride!!

When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.

It is a well-known fact that all dealers n Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.

We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.

Recollect that we sell you

Meal and Feed

AT THE

of the unground material.

We also hold that to endeavor to do a

Hand to Hand Cash Transaction with every purchase is not only impracticable but also unbusiness-like, and we wish it distinctly understood that accounts with parties of a known place of business, that are always promptly paid on presentation without any foolishness, is in our opinion cash.

is far ahead of any Shoe ever sold in Fayetteville.

Mr. Lutterloh introduced and first sold this Shoe here, and they are favorably known all over the country as the Lutterloh Shoe.

A GOOD, HONEST, SOLID, OLD STYLE, COUNTRY MADE SHOE, made carefully of Old Fashioned Red Oak Bark Tan Leather. No steam work like you get in Northern made Shoes. THEY ARE THE BEST. I refer you to any one who has ever worn this Shoe, as to their reliability and wear.

I am Sole Agent for the sale of this Shoe in Fayetteville, and they cannot be found except in my store. I am informed that dealers are offering a Northern made Shoe and claim it to be the Lutterloh Shoe. If you buy a pair of these "so called" Lutterloh Shoes, you will be disappointed. At my store is the only place you can obtain the genuine goods and please remember it.

WRAPS.

I am satisfied I can suit any Lady in the selection of a WRAP this season. My assortment far exceeds anything I have ever shown before, and have but very recently been selected from the latest Novelties. Here you will find something entirely new, not shown elsewhere.

FRANK THORNTON.

TO MY FRIENDS.

I hardly deem it necessary to continually call your attention to the confidence you have so generously placed in me. Were it not for your confidence and patronage, I would not now be holding the position I do in the Dry Goods business, which you all know is the leading position, both in variety and extent of stock and low prices.

The public will always place their trade where they can find the best assortment of goods and the lowest prices. I would hardly employ five times as many clerks as any House in town did not my trade justify it.

FRANK THORNTON,
Leader in Dry Goods and Low Prices.

SHOT DEAD AT THE ALTAR.

Bride and Groom Killed, and the Preacher Fatally Wounded.

PIKETON, Ky., October 4.—News is received of the revival of the Hatfield-McCoy feud, resulting in the killing of three, and possibly four, more persons involved in the warfare which began more than seven years ago. The details of the tragedy are meagre, owing to the fact that the scene of the killing is sixty or seventy miles away from any railroad or telegraph office, but sufficient is learned to warrant the following account:

The daughter of Peter McCoy had promised to marry John H. Hand, a relative of the Hatfields, in opposition to the wishes of the members of both families, who declared that they would prevent the wedding. Neither Peter McCoy nor Hand has ever taken part in the disputes and battles of the families, and they refused to recognize the leaders of the factions. Hence the objecting parties were unable to obstruct the preparations for the marriage.

On Tuesday night the bridal party and guests assembled at the house of McCoy. Miss McCoy and young Hand stood in the middle of the room, facing the minister, when suddenly and without warning a volley was fired through a window, and the young couple fell dead, and the clergyman, fatally wounded, lay near them. Members of the family and guests rushed from the house to intercept the murderers, and, as they did so, another shot was fired, seriously wounding a man whose name is not given.

The murderers escaped to the mountains, but the farmers and mountaineers are in hot pursuit, and a battle between them and the outlaws will ensue when the pursuing parties overtake the aggressors, as they certainly will.

No fend in the history of the country has been followed with more unrelenting venom and more deadly results than this fend between the Hatfields of Logan county, West Virginia, and the McCoys of Pike county, Kentucky. It began during the war, about 1862, between Jim Vance of the Hatfield crowd and Harmon McCoy. Ever since it has been prosecuted with fatal activity. Men, women and children have been butchered in open warfare or by ambuscade. No less than twenty-two murders have been committed. This will make twenty-six. It was thought the war would close when Elihu Hatfield, at Charleston, W. Va., was sentenced to hang last month, and two of his confederates got life sentences for their crimes. There cannot be many of either family left, but the present outbreak of hostilities proves the undying malice that controls the combatants.

Shoes for a Family.

Father of Family—How much?

Shoe Dealer (figuring on back of package)—Pair of shoes for the lady, $8; eldest girl, $5; boy, $3; other girl, $3; baby, $1.50, cost $20.50, sir. Thanks. Can't I show you some shoes for yourself?

Father of Family (wearily)—Oh, don't bother about me. I can go barefoot.

Everybody likes to feel that he is of some importance; even the pauper looks forward to the time of his funeral, when he will be noticed.

Manchester Cullings.

Reported for the Observer.]

Mr. Strinhilper has been very ill. We are glad to report him much improved and strong enough to be "boss" again, thanks to Drs. Hodges and Washburne.

Mr. Robert Strange has been out here doing some nice surveying on the new siding for the "Star Lumber Company." Lumber is piling up, while desperate efforts are being made by the manager to have the road completed at an early date.

Maj. Wright Huske was actually out Monday from his mill. Everyone was surprised and as glad to see him as if he was a foreign missionary just returned to homeland. He always has time to be a polished gentleman.

Mrs. McLauchlin, from Chester, S. C., passed through here last week with her little ones, on her way to visit her father, Rev. Neill McKay, of Harnett.

Miss Janie McDiarmid, the lovely and lovable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McDiarmid, is sadly missed by all. She is away at school.

Mrs. J. D. Williams is visiting Mrs. A. K. McDiarmid, and calling on her many friends.

The saw mill company are putting their heads together, agitating the necessity of a telegraph office here. Ere long they will be faster than El Rio Rey, in the short run over the race track of life.

Mr. and Mrs. McDiarmid were in the community Sunday.

We are sorry to know that one of our best families will soon vacate their ranche; they will abide in your town, at the Lafayette.

Our people are scraping away the rust of indifference, moving hulks of idleness, cultivating good will and right-hand fellowship all around. No longer are we subservient to the power of Rip Van Winkleism.

Drs. Ferguson and Hodges rendered our neighbors good service last week. While it does the well good to be within the charm of their genial presence, their names are synonyms of nauseous medicine and quickly restored vitality.

Mr. W. J. Morrison donned his best clothes, and made a sojourn in Greensboro with his daughter, Mrs. A. F. Brooks. For originality and unobtrusive humor he would be an acquisition anywhere.

Mrs. L. R. Kivett came up to attend service last Sunday at the Baptist Church.

BONNE AMIE.

"That Miss Jones is a nice-looking girl, isn't she?"

"Yes, and she'd be the belle of the town, if it wasn't for one thing."

"What's that?"

"She has catarrh so bad it is unpleasant to be near her. She has tried a dozen things and nothing helps her. I am sorry, for I like her, but that doesn't make it any less disagreeable for one to be around her."

Now, if she had used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy there would have been nothing of the kind said, for it will cure catarrh every time.

"Did you take me for a fool when you married me?" cried an angry husband, in the thick of a domestic quarrel; to which the wife meekly responded:

"No, James, I did not; but then you always said I was no judge of character."

Little River Academy Dots.

Reported for the Observer.]

The farmers in this section are now busily engaged gathering their crops, and are very much blessed with beautiful weather. It is very cool, and feels like "Jack Frost" will soon be upon us in dead earnest.

We do not know of a single ginner who uses jute bagging, and only one in this community that uses cotton bagging. Second-hand jute, pine-straw, burlaps, etc., are so much cheaper that most of our farmers use some of these substitutes instead of the cotton wrapping.

We congratulate the Farmers' Alliance of North Carolina upon one thing especially—that of bringing forth a volley of abuse from the New York Sun. It shows that the great money kings and monopolists of the North are getting uneasy.

The cotton crop in this section is fully three weeks late, and it seems from the present outlook that the crop will be a full year "late."

We Harnett folks congratulate the OBSERVER upon its defense of its near neighbor.

The infant of our esteemed fellow-citizen, Mr. J. F. Byrd, is, we regret to learn, very ill.

Dr. F. Smith and wife have returned from a week's visit to relatives in Raleigh and Smithfield.

We were glad to see in our midst a few days since Mr. Wright B. Smith, of Los Angelos, Cal. He is spending a few days with relatives in North Carolina, en route to Philadelphia, where he goes to attend medical lectures.

Mrs. Geo. D. Elliott and family are spending a few days with Mrs. J. M. Hodges.

Mr. Dan'l Buchanan, of Jonesboro, is "in town," guest of Mr. J. M. Hodges.

Rev. D. D. McBryde is away this week, attending Synod, which meets in Charlotte.

Mr. J. E. Taylor, of the shingle factory, has just returned from a flying trip to his home in Jonesboro.

With a 'rah for the Centennial, we beg to be excused until next week.

Neatness in Girls.

Ladies' Journal.]

Neatness is a good thing for a girl, and if she does not learn it when she is young, she never will. It takes a great deal more neatness to make a girl look well than it does to make a boy look passable. Not because a boy, to start with, is better looking than a girl, but his clothes are of a different sort—not so many colors in them, and people don't expect a boy to look so pretty as a girl. A girl that is not neatly dressed is called sloven, and no one likes to look at her. Her face may be pretty, and her eyes bright, but if there is a spot of dirt on her cheek, and fingers' ends are black with ink, and her shoes are not laced or buttoned up, and her apron is dirty, and her collar is not buttoned, and her skirt is torn, she cannot be liked. Suppose you were to enter a girl's room and find all her clothes on the floor, and her play-things scattered around promiscuously? Learn to be neat, and when you have learned it it will almost take care of itself.

A Faithful Five Dollar Bill.

A little money sometimes goes a great way. As an illustration of this, read the following, founded up an incident which is said to have really occurred:

A owed $15 to B; B owed $20 to C; C owed $15 to D; D owed $30 to E; E owed $12.50 to F; F owed $10 to A.

They were all seated at the same table.

A having a $5 note handed it to B, remarking that he had paid $5 of the $15 he owed B.

B passed the note to C with the remark that it paid $5 of the $20 which he owed.

C passed it to D, and paid with it $5 of the $15 he owed D.

D handed it to E in part payment of the $30 he owed him.

E gave it to F, to apply on account of the $12.50 due him.

F passed it back to A, saying: "This pays half the amount I owe you."

A again passed it to B, saying: "I now owe you only $5."

B passed it again to C, with the remark: "This reduces my indebtedness to $10."

C again passed it to D, reducing his indebtedness to $5.

D paid it over to E, saying: "I now owe you $20."

E handed it again to F, saying: "This reduces my indebtedness to you to $2.50."

Again F handed the note to A, saying: "Now I don't owe you anything."

A passed it immediately B, thus canceling the balance of his indebtedness.

B handed it to C, reducing his indebtedness to $5.

C canceled the balance of his debt to D by handing the note to him.

D again paid it to E, saying: "I now owe you $15."

Then E remarked to F: "If you will give me $2.50 this will settle my indebtedness to you."

F took $2.50 from his pocket, handed it to E, and returned the $5 note to his pocket, and thus the spell was broken, the single $5 having paid $82.50, and canceled A's debt to B, C's debt to D, E's debt to F and F's debt to A, and at the same time having reduced B's debt to C from $20 to $5 and D's debt to E from $30 to $15.

Moral: "Here a little and there a little" helps to pay off large scores. Money circulates from hand to hand, and business moves. Pay your debts in full, if you can, and if you can't pay in full, pay something. What helps one helps another, and so the round is made.

Bread! Bread! The Cry for Bread!

A million loaves, not enough for one city! Five million, not enough for one State! Fifty millions, not enough for this country a single day, yet often what sour, soggy stuff it is! Nevertheless it is eaten, and the result is dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, impoverished blood, pimples, blotches and scrofula. For the correction of all this, and as a general tonic for the system, take Golden Medical Discovery prepared by Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo. Its action is like a charm, a "benediction that follows after prayer." A remedy for stomachic and liver troubles, as well as a specific for throat and lung disorders. It is guaranteed to benefit or cure, or money refunded.

THE CASE OF BOYLE.

The trial of the ex-priest, Boyle, just concluded at Raleigh, will doubtless rank among les causes celebres in the annals of crime.

We are free to declare that we approach the case of Boyle for brief comment without the slightest feeling against the man or the Church of which he was the ordained and annointed priest. We have seen the world too much to be controlled by such crude and insular prejudice; and we should write in precisely the same terms of a Presbyterian, Espiscopal, Methodist or Baptist minister as we apply to this Roman Catholic priest.

If Boyle is guilty—and a jury has so decided—it is difficult to reach up to the height or grope down into the Cimmerian darkness of the profundity of his guilt. He is a monster, who has added a new and fearful charnel-house to crime. Not content with blasting the life and ruining the fair body of a young girl, he has with inconceivable poltroonery endeavored to shield himself from the punishment following his misdeed by wrecking the character of the creature of his lust; he would have us believe that this mere child was a lewd wanton, so skilled in meretricious art that she successfully assailed the citadel of his virtue and became his seducer. Oh, horrible! Not overcome in an unguarded hour by the tumultuous invasion of sensuous passion which overcomes humanity's puny strength in even the purest love, this man—a formal verdict and sentence of court and bench have declared—crushed down beneath his rude might female chastity with all the revolting brutalism of the savage or the ignorant African; and, "with a smile on his face," turns from the broken, bruised form of his delicate victim to become a traducer of woman's fair fame and a perjurer before his God.

We have said, "if he is guilty." A new trial is asked for, and an appeal has been granted to the Supreme Court. We hope that nothing will be left undone to give this extraordinary man the benefit of every possible defense known to the law and his able counsel—so that in the end this verdict may be clinched, and this case may stand without a parallel for priestly devilry and human wickedness.

SHAKSPEARE.

THE ACCOMPLISHED and scholarly editor of the Wilson Mirror, like THE OBSERVER, is a great admirer of Shakspeare, and in speaking of his works most beautifully says: "During the long winter evenings that are coming on we advise our young friends to devote an hour at least to the study of the grand and glowing emanations of the greatest dramatist and poet who ever lived. And what you learn from this bard will always be of service and will aid you in conversation, for as long as mankind loves the bright and witty, the tender and pathetic, the grand and sublime, just so long will Shakspeare be admired. As long as old Falstaff can make man laugh; as long as Lear can make man weep; as long as Othello can melt man's sympathy; as long as Iago can arouse man's scorn; as long as Desdemona can sadden man's flow of feeling; as long as Miranda can charm man's heart with her innocent beauty; as long as Juliet can make man's life blossom out with sentimental sweetness and fragrance and beauty; yea, just so long as a man loves nature, and finds beauty in the modest violet, the chaste hare bells, the blushing rose, the dew drops—morning's glittering necklace of diamonds—and in those tinted clouds which evening weaves for her drapery; as long as man finds music in the roar of the bursting storm, and catches it in the sighs of the breeze upon the bosom of darkness, or hears it in the wild swell of the ocean's rushing billows, and listens to it in the dimpled flow of singing rills, chanting out their chorus to the silence of midnight; as long as man loves all these, just so long will he admire the writings of him who interpreted nature most beautifully, and found in all her objects, both animate and inanimate, a thrilling inspiration for that heaven-enkindled genius which lit up the sky of his fame with meteoric burst of lustre, and gave to the world that matchless work of imperishable worth and beauty."

What The War Did.

[Extract from the speech of Col. W. A. Henderson, an ex-Confederate soldier and leading Democrat of Knoxville, Tenn., at the Reunion of the Army of Cumberland.]

I believe it as strongly as anything that was written by St. John that the South has made more by the war than the North.

Some people thought that the question of slavery was the bone of the contention. That question is settled now and settled forever, and in the settlement of that question the South has gained more than the North. While those men who wore the blue were settling the question against us in our teeth, I am of the opinion that they themselves don't know how much good they were doing us. While it is true that they set four millions of slaves free, they didn't know so well as we know that they set free four millions of the young men of the South, whose hands were bound down, chained by the prejudices we were then living under. It may have been involuntarily done, but they have for us made it respectable to work. And it is this work by the young men of the South which never could have been done by slave labor or her cousin—German convict labor—that is bringing the roses to bloom in the wilderness. It is that which is rebuilding our temple more glorious than that which was originally constructed by King Solomon! In the providence of God that never could have been done any other way. That was not a question for argument; was not a question for courts and lawyers. It was a question for the sword and shot and shell and bayonet. You won the law suit, but we got the mule.

Guiteau's Curse.

THE RECENT death of policeman KEARNEY, the officer who arrested GUITEAU immediately after he fired that fatal shot which resulted in the death of JAS. A. GARFIELD, brings up once more "Guiteau's Curse." In his predictions on the gallows, coupled with subsequent events, the superstitious find much food for morbid imaginings in the fate which has befallen so many of the chief actors in that tragical affair. It must have been an impartial or too comprehensive curse; for, while George B. Corkhill, the prosecuting attorney, and Judge Porter, assistant, are both dead, poor Charley Reed, who defended him, after attempting suicide by jumping from a ferry boat into a river, is in an insane asylum in New Jersey, and Scoville, Guiteau's brother-in-law, who assisted in the defense, is divorced from his wife and is a little better than a legal wreck. Judge Cox, who presided at the trial and sentenced the assassin, is possibly the only surviving member of that famous crowd who has escaped some dire affliction.

Taking the Children.

The Freeman.]

A little boy had been deeply interested in reading Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," the characters of that wonderful book being all living men and women to him. One day, while his grandma was busy with her needle-work, he took his slate and pencil, and seated himself by her side. Thinking of what he had been reading, he said:

"Grandma, which of all the people in 'Pilgrim's Progress' do you like the best?"

"I like Christian," was the reply, giving the little boy her reasons. "Which do you like best?"

Slowly but thoughtfully the little fellow replied: "I like Christiana."

"And why, my boy?" inquired the old lady.

"Because she took the children with her, grandma."
